

The mysterious glass shard.
Through the mysterious dense forest, Lube and Liam muttered about how much they had enjoyed the party they had started. As the sun started to fade behind the colossal mountains, everything went eerily silent.

Bang! A mighty ear-splitting sound filled the air all around them.

They crouched down thinking they were going to get hit by something, but nothing happened. The clear sky was now a dark grey sky, minute lights blinked in the dis-tance then disappeared a UFO appeared circling round them.

Crash! The UFO had landed only inches away from Lube and Liam, they dashed away worried about an enormous ship demolishing everything. After a few moments Liam rushed towards a tree to come on Liam sighed. Luke had cold sweat dripping down his face and tears bared up. They crouched behind a nearby bush with their hearts in their mouths, as a shadow began to move.

Gasping for breath Luke and Liam jumped from their beds both puzzled on how they got back home after they had spotted a shadow moving. They realized that they were asleep for 24 hours before waking up from their deep sleep. Was this a trick of their imagination. They wanted to tell their parents about what they had seen 24 hours ago.

wondering if this had been a trick of their imagination, they desperately tried to remember how they ended up back at the cottage a whole 24 hours later.

They dug into their pockets only to find a white glass shard and when they took a glimpse inside they saw a shadow. They dashed back to the crime scene but there was nothing and when they looked ~~had~~ back in the shard the shadow was gone.
