

As the sun slipped behind the mountain like a plane whizzing by, Draco and Delphini were just packing up after a day of surfing. They were heading back to their cottage as their mother made their favourite, steak pie. Draco and Delphini were talking about how awesome their surfing tricks were.

Unaware of what was happening, it struck their ears. A strange, whirring sound was coming from above. They look up in horror and realise something fashionable happening to the sky. Draco discovered the stars were disappearing one by one. Delphini also surveyed something to the navy blue sky. It was mysteriously changing Amethyst purple and neon pink. What was the supernatural magic behind this mystery?

Draco and Delphini resolve to go after the trail of flashing colours.

They approached the dark, forest thicket and as the illumination drew nearer, they both crouched about a tall pine tree and observed it.
Crash! The light had collided with the ground. Unexpectedly the door opened and a hysterical, very real shadow left the spaceship. Remarkably, they both thought the same thing Aliens!
Aliens coming to invade the Earth.
They felt a quiver down their spines and their bones were trembling.

Without hesitation, Droop and Delphini woke in a peculiar mood. Silently, it bounced back to their minds as they were getting dressed. Of course the spaceship!
The pair dashed downstairs to tell their kindhearted parents. But in all the consternation, they didn't believe a thing, nor did the police. The sighed and explained what had happened to their <sup>precious</sup> Memories. He whispered that they had Amnesia brought on by Shock.

the shock was totally uneasy when Draco sat down and felt something bashing around in his pocket. In a heart-stopping moment, out of his pocket came a beautiful dark, purple gem. What was it for? Could it be ~~for~~ <sup>to</sup> teleport? or to live ~~forever~~ forever? Who knows? Strangely Delshini found a gem in her pocket too.
~~Now~~ they really aren't sure if they wanted to find out? Was it there to help them? or was it a trap? Staring into the gems they saw their strongest desire.

men